About

Victory is a happy go-lucky dog with a lot of will to please and great work ethic. He is extremely smart and with that comes good aspects and aspects that can be challenging for a soft owner. He is dog neutral, he could take or leave other dogs and would likely be happier in a household without another dog or with a female that doesn't bug him too much. He's more the type that will just leave the situation and go be by himself or a person rather than fight. He would truly rather just be with a person. He would be a great hiking or outdoor activity type dog or someone wanting to get into obedience or beginner agility, he really likes being active and having a job. Although he was interested in small prey animals when he first came, he's lost interest in them over time and his control around them is very good and larger livestock he mostly ignores so he would likely do great in a farm setting. He's clean and non destructive in his kennel,
